CONVICT 16 ON BOOZE CHARGE

100 PER CENT CONVICTIONS AGAINST LIQUOR VIOLATORS.

NCREASE PROSECUTION

Eight Convicted in Circuit Court Last Year While 16 Sentenced First 6 Months 1925.

One hundred per cent convictions of all tried in the Nodaway County Circuit Court on violations of the prohibition laws the first six months of 1925, is shown from the records of the circuit clerk.

In other words, so far this year, sixteen prosecutions have been instituted against persons violating the intoxicating liquor laws and sixteen convictions have resulted. The records also show that there are now six others under arrest and out on bond for infractions of this law who are to be tried during the next term of court.

Jail sentences were imposed against fourteen of these brought before the court, the jail sentences assessed totaling 1,945 days. The number of days actually served by all the prisoners for violation of liquor laws will be 1,102. While most of these convicted were sentenced to jail others received penitentiary terms, which totaled 1,460 days.

Fines assessed against these sixteen men, as they all happen to be men arrested and prosecuted during the the last two terms of court, were $2,900.

The records of the circuit clerk for violations of the liquor law were compared with the book last year.

The clerk's record shows that more prosecutions were instituted against violators of the prohibition laws in the first six months of this year than during the entire twelve months of 1924. In 1924 there were thirteen brought before the court, who were either tried or entered pleas, all charged with some phase of disobeying the liquor laws of the state.

Of the thirteen prosecuted eight were convicted and jail sentences imposed against seven of the eight. Their fines were assessed at $650 and they were sentenced to serve a total of 1,325 days in jail, whereas the records reveal that only 390 days were put in by these prisoners in the county jail. Not one of the eight convicted received a penitentiary sentence during the last year.

Miss MacLaren Gives Pleasing Program

Is One Of Cleverest Performers Of Her Kind To Ever Appear On Local Platform—Big Crowd.

By far one of the cleverest performers of her kind to ever appear on a local platform, Miss Gay MacLaren, "dramatist extraordinary," pleased a capacity audience at the College auditorium last night by her presentation of "Father and Dad," one of her own compositions.

Miss MacLaren has an uncanny talent of reproducing every type of character with equal fineness. Living up to advance notices, she is "the whole show," as she presents an entire play so cleverly that one imagines there surely must be a number of characters on the stage.

Her play last night, "Father and Dad," was the story of the trials and sacrifices of a devoted mother who had been deserted by her husband. Later she marries again and her children love their new father with unfailing loyalty. When her first husband returns and claims the children, he is spurned by them, being but a "father" instead of a "dad."

Tonight, Miss MacLaren will present "Bought and Paid For." The performance starts at 8:15 o'clock.

The Greek navy, the dispatch stated, joined in the revolt.

No reports of the fight were given in the dispatch giving rise to the belief that the coup was bloodless.

Leaders of the revolt issued a communique in which it was declared the revolutionists controlled the situation throughout Greece and that no resistence is being encountered.

Gypsies Traveling a La Mode Automobile

Traveling a la mode automobile several loads of gypsies that had Maryville on their itinerary, stopped here this afternoon long enough to cause acting chief of police, Harve England, a little grief.

These wanderers were driving some mean wagons including Cadillacs, Dodges and a Ford, carrying all the equipment that gypsies need on the side, rear and on seats of their cars.

Among other things a couple of gypsies picked a couple of dollars at a store, which the officer forced them to return, and also gave them orders to stay clear of Maryville.

PAYS TO FEED THE HEN WELL

FEEDING AND CULLING BOOSTS POULTRY EARNINGS.

CAMPAIGN IN COUNTY

Hens Should Be Coaxed to Consume More Egg Laying Mash During Summer Months.

A summer feeding and culling campaign to boost poultry earnings is now in progress in this county. "A well fed hen every day in the year" is the slogan of the state-wide feeding and culling campaign that is being conducted in Nodaway County by the local Farm Bureau in co-operation with the state Extension Service.

Flock owners are urged to enroll their flocks in this campaign, secure the record blanks from the Farm Bureau office, feed their hens a balanced ration for at least four weeks and see that they are properly culled. It is not recommended that culling take place until the latter part of July, preferably during August. Generally speaking, culling should never be done unless the hens have been receiving a liberal allowance of a balanced ration for at least three or four weeks.

"Did you ever try to bring a cow back to a full milk flow after turning her dry?" asks J. Ross Fleetwood, county agent. He says "it is just as hard to secure profitable egg production from the poultry flock that has been misfed as it is to increase the flow of milk.

"Many flock owners," he says, "lose interest in their hens during the hot summer months because egg prices are low and feed is high. They neglect them to such an extent that they let them 'rustle' their living. When the fall months come and the egg prices are higher, then they start feeding generously but find themselves in the same position as the man who dried up his milk cow."

Mr. Fleetwood tells of a woman in Montgomery County, Mrs. M. L. Hall, who, by careful feeding methods during July and August secured 46 per cent production. He then compares this production with a flock in an adjoining county. This flock had averaged up to July 1, seven eggs more per hen than Mrs. Hall's flock. The second flock owner tried to economize on summer feed bill and secured only a 20 per cent production.

Mr. Fleetwood said this man realized his mistake and feeding methods were changed but the demonstration flock records show that he was unable to bring the birds up to the 40 per cent production maintained by Mrs. Hall's flock during the following months. When the year's account was calculated it was found that the well fed flock not only paid for the extra feed but netted $1 more per bird profit.

Mr. Fleetwood says that "the hen loses her appetite for grain during the summer months and she should be coaxed to consume more egg laying mash. Dry mash mixed with milk or water until it is in a crumbly condition is greatly relished by hens. This should be fed once daily, giving the birds all that they can clean up in an half an hour."

He goes on to say "a simple and economical mash can be made by mixing 200 pounds of bran, 200 pounds of shorts with 100 pounds of tankage or meat scrap. To this 1½ per cent common salt may be added. If three gallons of milk for each 100 hens is available the tankage may be left out."

According to H. L. Shrader, extension poultry specialist, Missouri College of Agriculture, it pays to coax the hen to eat extra quantities of mash during the summer months, not only for increased egg yields that month, but for the following months.

KAN. FARMERS FORM POSSE

"IN WHITE AIRPLANE"

Erroneous Report Is Given Out Robbers Swoop Down on Kansas Town In Airplane.

Lincolnville, Kan., June 25.—Farmer posses of more than one hundred men in automobiles are searching for two men who held up the Lincolnville State Bank this morning and escaped after locking Fred Collins, cashier, and Miss Erma Kaiser, assistand, and four customers in a vault.

First reports sent from here to Marion, the county seat, were that the robbers had escaped by airplane. The cash drawers were time locked and the men got only $300. Word from Kansas City is that detectives set out from there in an airplane to search for the bandits when it was first reported they had flown away.

Kansas City, Mo., June 25.—Local police developed "tricks" in their respective necks today, scanning the sky for airplane bandits who did not exist.

A telephone report from officers at Marion, Kan., 200 miles southeast of here, told of two daring bandits, swooping down on the town of Lincolnville, near there in a "big white airplane," robbing the Lincolnville bank of $300 and soaring away into the sky.

Heavily armed patrolmen rushed to the local flying field and concentrated their gazes on the horizon for the first glimpse of the flying "James Boys."

An airplane was "tuned up" ready to take the officers aloft and give battle with the thugs.

Then came word from Lincolnville that the bandits used a black automobile instead of the "big white airplane." The police who were in readiness to go up in the airplane were notified, the airplane motors turned off and the sky gazers unbent their necks.

Kansas detectives are looking for the bandits along the country roads. The whereabouts of the "big white airplane" are unknown.

EQUIP SHIPS WITH RADIOS

ARCTIC EXPEDITION TO HAVE FULL REGULATION.

IS WILLING TO COMPLY

Says MacMillan With Wishes of Navy Department—Complication Threatened to End Expedition.

North Sydney, Nova Scotia, June 25—Donald MacMillan, commander, having complied with the demands of Curtis D .Wilbur, Secretary of Navy, for the installation of regulation naval radio equipment on the ships of his Arctic expedition, work of placing the apparatus aboard the Peary was started today.

The destroyer, Putnam, brought the equipment last night after a fast run from Wiscasset, Me.

Commander MacMillan said he was willing to comply in every way with the wishes of the navy department. It is believed the installation of the equipment would be completed tomorrow, permitting the ships to sail on schedule to Battle Harbor, Laborador.

Washington, June 25.—Complications over the radio equipment of the MacMillan Arctic expedition, which for a time threatened to terminate its life, were adjusted yesterday at Sydney, N. S., and last night the party was said to be preparing to proceed late this week toward its main base at Etah, Greenland.

Solution Friendly.

The adjustment was not reached, however, until Secretary Wilbur had served an ultimatum on Donald MacMillan, leader of the expedition through Lieutenant Commander R. E. Byrd, chief of the navy section, that standard long wave radio equipment which had been left in the United States must be taken along or the navy section would return to Washington.

Announcement of an amicable solution of the difficulty through acquiescence in Mr. Wilbur's demands was made here by the National Geographic society, one of the sponsors of the expedition, after a long distance telephone conversation with its representatives in Sydney.

The society's announcement said the navy radio equipment, which Secretary Wilbur regarded as essential to the safety of the naval section had been left behind because of an oversight. Mr. Wilbur said the department was at first informed it had been left behind because neither the Peary or the Bowdoin, base ships had room for it.

Agreement Entered.

The expedition had entered an agreement with the navy department, Mr. Wilbur asserted, to carry the navy long wave apparatus.

E. F. McDonald, chief radio expert of the expedition and second in command, who is president of the Zenith Radio corporation, which made the short wave apparatus being used by the expedition, Mr. Wilbur added, did not want the standard long wave apparatus to be carried.

"He objected to it," the secretary declared, "but we insisted and he finally acquiesced."

The equipment weighs 2,000 pounds and was to have been loaded on the Peary at Boston. It was left behind, however, and when navy officers found it at the dock, it was sent by a tug to Wiscasset, Maine, where the Peary was to call and be joined by the Bowdoin. Both vessels sailed from the Maine port without the equipment and the next day Commander Byrd reported to Secretary Wilbur that it had been left behind.

Destroyer Sent.

The destroyer Putnam was at once sent to Wiscasset and picking up the radio apparatus, started for Sydney, N. S., the next port of call of the expedition, where it was due today. At the same time, Mr. Wilbur dispatched an order to Commander Byrd that the equipment should be taken aboard at Sydney or the navy section would return to the United States.

The equipment was regarded by the navy as essential, not only to the safety but the efficiency of the expedition, to supplement the short wave apparatus on both planes and ships.

As the expedition sailed it was equipped only with short wave apparatus, except for a long wave set on one of the planes for communication with the base ships. The apparatus now to be taken aboard the Peary at Sydney will be set up on that ship and used to communicate with the planes when in flight.

Wilbur Pleased.

Upon receiving word from the Geographic society that the diffieulties had been smoothed out, Mr. Wilbur expressed pleasure and said he was "glad the expedition could go on in a systematic way and do its work sanely and cautiously so that what is done be worth while."

The National Geographic society made public several messages from the Bowdoin and the Peary picked up by radio amateurs in New York Massachusetts and other points during the run from Wiscasset to Sydney. The messages reported all well and told of life aboard ship. Two way communication was established in one case with the Bowdoin and the signals were said to be strong and easily readable.

TRAINS GUNS ON DR. FAIMAN

SHEPHERD DEFENSE IN RELENTLESS DENUNCIATION.

ASSAILS CHARACTERS

Stewart Declares "Even Judge Crowe Will Not ouch For Faiman," Co-Defendant In Murder Trial.

Chicago, June 25.—The defense of William D. Shepherd today trained its guns on the state's theory of the "indirect confession."

Abandoning his plea of "liberty or death," William S. Stewart, chief of the defense counsel, turned to the charge that Shepherd's action at the time William Nelson McClintock was stricken with typhoid fever and during his illness constituted virtual admission of guilt, built up a hypothetical case and then tore it to shreds with a fine fire of ridicule.

Stewart devoted the close of his address to a bitter denunciation of Charles C. Faiman, co-defendant with Shepherd, whose confession that he gave Shepherd typhoid germs with which to innoculate young McClintock was largely responsible for the present indictment.

His talk bristled with burning phrases as he sought to brand both Faiman and John P. Marchand, a salesman for Faiman's National University of Sciences, with stigmas which would make their testimony worthless in the eyes of the jury.

"Why," he roared, "even Judge Crowe would not vouch for Faiman, and they want you to take the life and liberty of a decent citizen on the testimony of such a skulldugger as he."

Marchand, he said, had been blackmailed by a railroad for walking off and leaving a train between stations.

"That is the kind of a man he is," Stewart said, "a man with absolutely no respect for the rights and life of others. He is as low as a quack and there could be nothing lower than that."

The "quack" served to apply to Faiman's doctor's degree and his admittedly shaded medical school.

COLLEGE MEN ARE CALLED

PHYSICAL RECREATION PROGRAM IS OUTLINED.

SIGN FOR TOURNAMENTS

Also Want Those Interested in Baseball Team—Challenge Tennis Tourney to Be Arranged.

The men's physical recreation program at the State Teachers College, under the direction of Coaches H. F. Lawrence and Paul Jones, was started yesterday with a call for men to sign up for tournaments in several sports. The tournaments will run throughout the remainder of the summer session of the school.

Teams and pairings are being arranged in baseball, basketball, volleyball, tennis (doubles), and horse shoe (singles and doubles). So far the first two mentioned sports have attracted the greater number of entries.

Every man enrolled in the College must enter some one of the tournaments and all must be signed up before Friday evening of this week. In case the tournament entered is one requiring a partner for each player, the player must secure the partner before signing up to play.

The play in the tournaments will begin next week. Baseball will be played on Tuesday, basketball on Wednesday, and volleyball on Thursday.

A call was also made by Coach Lawrence for all men interested in the formation of a varsity baseball team to play a few games this summer. A game might possibly be scheduled with Warrensburg, Coach Lawrence stated in his call for men.

A tennis challenge tourney in singles has been arranged in addition to the above mentioned tournaments. The names of all men entered in it have been arranged in a vertical list and numbered from the top downward. Each man then issues a challenge to the man whose name is just above his own name on the list. The one challenged is given 48 hours in which to accept the challenge and play the match. In case a player does not accept a challenge the rules state that he forfeits the match.

The winner in each match reports to Coach Jones and is credited with the rating of the person whom he defeated on the list provided that rating is above the one the winner already holds. The person in position number one at the end of July shall be declared the winner of the tournament. All disputes will be settled by the two coaches of the school.

The men entered in this tournament in the order in which their names appear on the list are: Jack Sheley, Floyd Cook, "Doc" Pierpoint, Denton Peoples, Cloys Appleby, Lloyd Glenn, Donald Dowell, Vernon Goslee, Joe Gex, Carl Ferguson, Bill Lamkin, Joe Kagay, Reed Holt, Wayne Venill, Everette Reynolds, James Calkins, O. Real Estate Men Benefit Directly From Any Form of Community Advertising

The following is the twentieth installment of the article on "Community Advertising" written for the Democrat-Forum by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

Real estate men should come to see the benefits to be derived from team work with community advertising men and others who have a vision and can see into the future needs of the community. It is very proper for the real estate interests to capitalize the home life atmosphere and to develop a high type of home ownership. In the future it will not be sufficient for them to capitalize on growth. "What's back of it?" will be the question.

Cities must decide either to cut their budgets and go backwards, or create a new taxable wealth, to spread the burden among many more people on a rate basis that is equitable. When real estate advertising applies itself to meet new conditions affect the economic welfare, it will then function as a part of every community advertising program.

Public utilities in the U. S. represents an investment of 18 billion dollars, with gross earnings of 3 billion dollars, and 33 million patrons. There are 840 street railway companies, 1,000 gas companies, 3,600 light and power companies, and 10,000 telephone companies, or a total of over 15,000 companies, of which less than 20 per cent do any advertising, or only 3,000 companies.

The ownership of these public utility companies is now in the hands of more than 2,000,000 direct investors.

The demand for 'service" is becoming so urgent that utility experts state that millions of dollars will be required to meet the ever growing requirements.

Utilities are the agencies around which communities are built, because commerce, industry and social background are developed around them, and cannot function properly without them. Utilities must have about $5,00 of capital invested for every dollar of gross income. Continuously good public service is maintained only by providing it before it is needed.

Among out-of-town visitors today were Mrs. L. D. Young, Quitman; Albert Rasco, Barnard; the Rev. R. Underwood, Harmony; and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dalby and daughter of Hopkins.

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, June 25.—Grain future prices broke sharply on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

Extensive liquidating sent wheat down after a comparative firm opening. Several feeble rallies developed on short covering and toward the last a moderate recovery was scored from the low.

Business in corn was light.

Oats was the weakest of small grains, selling off sharply on the better crop outlook.

Packer bulls rallied provisions to a steady close after ruling in lower territory most of the session.

Bearcats Get Revenge by Beating Directors

Win Second Match Yesterday 4 Up—Third Match Will Be Played Within A Week.

The Bearcats golf team composed of Uel W. Lamkin, president of the State Teachers College, W. F. Phares, president of the board of regents, H. F. Lawrence and Luther A. Richman defeated the ex-directors of the Country Club in a golf game yesterday afternoon by 4 up. The ex-directors were Harvey L. Haines, F. P. Reuillard, E. W. Keck and James Todd.

This is the second game to be played between these men, the ex-directors winning the first game. Another match will be played within the next week or so.

After the game, the players with H. L. Raines, George Robb Ellison, H. F. Leet, E. E. Williams, and George L. Wilfley, as guests had dinner at the Country Club.

Repellent for Apple Trees Is Developed

Will Keep Out the Borers Says Fleetwood, But Will Not Kill Borers Already in Trees.

The Michigan Agriculture College has recently developed a repellant for apple trees to keep out the borers. The formula as given by J. Ross Fleetwood, county agent, is:

Laundry soap (potash)—50 pounds.
Water—3 gallons.
Flake Naphthaline—25 pounds.
Flour—2 pounds.

To make up this stock solution, says Mr. Fleetwood, add the water to the soap and let it stand several days in a warm place; heat to about 180 degrees F. and slowly add naphthaline, stirring thoroughly.

Add flour and mix well, then put back on fire and heat to 180 degrees to be sure naphthaline is well combined with the mixture. This stock solution can be kept indefinitely in tight containers.

When desired to use, says Mr. Fleetwood, thoroughly warm the amount needed and add enough water to bring the material to the consistency of thick cream. Apply with a brush to the trunks of trees. Applications should be made every two weeks until the first of September. This material is a repellent only and will not kill borers already in the trees. These should be dug out with a knife.

The formula can be used to make a smaller amount by dividing each required constituent by the fractional amount desired. For example, for one third of the amount divide each constituent by three.

Mrs. J. E. Bratcher, Mrs. Jay Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Smith of Clearmont were Maryville visitors today.

COUZENS PLAN IS OUTLINED

WOULD EXEMPT ALL INCOMES UNDER $5,000.

RICHEST CONGRESSMAN

Michigan Legislator Also Endorses Secretary Mellon's Surtax Reduction Program—3,000,000 Affected.

Washington, June 24.—Two of the nation's richest men, for years emblazoned in newspapers as bitter economic foes, are allies today in the drive to reduce the Federal tax burden on American wealth.

This strange union came about when Senator James Couzens, (R. of Mich.) a multimillionaire, endorsed the surtax reduction program of Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, said to be the richest man in America.

Where, in previous tax controversies, Couzens and Mellon always have been arrayed on opposite sides, with each attacking the other without mercy, today they both advocate sharp slashes in the Federal taxes on the rich.

Affects 3,000,000.

Couzens, however, predicates his surtax stand upon new and even more sweeping reductions for the moderate wage earner. His chief tax reduction item, indeed, is the complete exemption of all persons with incomes under $5,000—a cut to nothing in the Federal taxes of about 3,000,000 Americans. In fact, Couzens is the father of this plan of tax relief for the "poor" of America.

As he says: "No logical mind objects to a reduction of surtaxes when those needing it most have first secured relief."

Anticipating a tax cut of about $400,000,000, Couzens would give about $105,000,000 relief to the small-wage earners.

"I believe the law requiring returns from individuals with incomes of less than $5,000 should be repealed," says Couzens. "This would eliminate the filing of this enoumous number of returns which causes not only great annoyance to the taxpayer, but costs the Government a great deal of money to handle. This policy would save much of the mechanical work of the collection of taxes which has been such a burden to the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Adoption of this policy would increase the number of wage earners who pay no direct taxes by approximately 3,000,000 individuals."

Slash Surtax.

Couzens would give this $5,000 exemption, of course, to all other taxpayers, so it would be a tax reduction right up the line even to multi-millionaire. But for the rich, if the poor are cared for first, he advacates slashing the surtax rates.

"I think a perfectly equitable plan would be to reduce the surtax rates 50 per cent, which would bring the maximum surtax rate on incomes of over $500,000 a year, down to 20 per cent," he says. "Based on the returns of 1922, this would mean a material reduction in surtaxes to approximately 594,000 individuals.

"Now some may say that this is the Mellon plan, but it doesn't make any particular difference to me whose plan they call it."

The biggest tax problem facing Congress, Couzens believes it NOT how much to cut taxes, but how to stop loopholes in the administration of the tax laws.

"I submit that the really important matter in connection with Federal taxes has to do with their administration," says Couzens. "There are many statutory provisions affecting the administration, and they provide for many items deductible from incomes of individuals and corporations, and in many cases are absurd.

Government Loses.

"Up to the passage of the 1924 act many millions of dollars were lost to the Government by the laws dealing with capital losses and capital gains. The old law provided that the profit arising out of the sale of property held for more than two years was taxable at the maximum rate of 12½ per cent, but on property lost or disposed of at a loss the entire loss could be deducted.

"This produced most ridiculous results, so far as the Government was concerned. The subject might well be discussed as to whether the whole matter of taxes on gains and credits for losses might not be repealed."

Similar bunglings in the allowance of amortization claims to corporations for expansions in the prosecution of war, Couzens says, cost the Government "many more millions of dollars." He also denounce the allowances for depreciation of the value of mines, oil wells and gas wells, urging their immediate repeal.

Getting back to the common people again, Couzens advocates the repeal of all nuisance taxes.

"Many of these so-called nusiance taxes return only a small revenue to the Government, but are of considerable annoyance to the taxpayer and add to the cost of merchandise," he says. "These taxes might well be abolished. They were all primarily war taxes, and there seems to be no sound reason, now that taxes may be reduced for not repealing the tax on these items."

Examples of the nusiance taxes are the levies on cameras, films, paintings, jewelry, firearms, yachts, playing cards, automobiles and motor accessories.

Disagrees With Mellon.

In the field of estate taxes, which will be one of the few controversial tax issues before the next Congress, Couzens disagrees with Mellon, who would turn this source of revenue over to the States. Couzens rather would have the Government collect the tax and share the proceeds with the States.

"I think it would be better if Congress continued the Federal estate taxes, first, because their abolition assures no uniformity of method among the several States, and second, because its elimination would accentuate competition between the States for the purpose of securing wealth to locate within their jurisdiction. It is much more desirable to have the Federal Government collect the estate taxes and divide with the State where the decedent maintained his legal residence."

Such a division of the estate taxes collected by the Government, Couzens feels, could be spent on good roads, forest conservation, public health service and public education.

"The Federal Government, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1923, collected $125,765,260 and in the fiscal lear ending June 30, 1924, collected $102,966,761 from estates," he adds. "There seems to be no justifiable reason for the Government to give up this revenue."

Favors Publicity.

On the subject of income tax publicity Couzens also disagrees with Mellons. In fact, the Secretary's recommendation for repeal of the publicity clause undoubtedly will provoke a bitter parliamentary war. Couzens believes publicity tends to keep the rich from evading their taxes and for this reason, should be continued in the law.

Brookfield, Mo., June 23.—Mistaking a brilliant and fiery sunset late yesterday evening for conflagration someone proceeded to turn in a general fire alarm. The department also was fooled mistaking the flaming sky in the west to presage a great fire. They returned to their quarters not a little disgruntled. Some blamed the false alarm on the halucinations of a heat sufferer.

She's the most popular and also the prettiest bobbed-haired girl in Rock Island, Ill., and she'll represent that city in a state-wide contest of shingled beauties shortly. Her name is Miss Mildred Tollander. She's 20, stands five feet three inches, and weighs 103 pounds.

A Romance at Spain Coming to the Empire

"The Bandolero," a romance of Spain, in which the vendetta of parents and the love of a boy and girl are woven against a background of bullfights and mountain brigandage, plays at the Empire Theater tonight. This photodrama, is based on the novel by Paul Gwynne.

Pedro de Cordoba has the title role of Dorando, the Bandolero, or brigand chief, who is a Spanish version of Robin Hood. He has been driven to outlawry by his discovery that the Marques de la Torre is making unwelcome love to his wife, who is killed in the fight that follows.

Hopkins Needs a Commercial Club

(Hopkins Journal)

A proposition is now being discussed by the different business and professional men of Hopkins, and right here is brought home the fact that Hopkins needs a commercial club and needs it badly where matters similar to the proposition we shall mention, could be discussed and decided on.

Frank New, Jr., manager of the Farmers Union, advocates the advisability of the stores closing each Wednesday afternoon from say 2 to 5 o'clock and then remain open that night until 9or 10 o'clock for the benefit of the farmers who are unable during the busy season to come during the day without sacrificing by leaving their work. This would give the farmers "two nights a week" to do their trading, Saturday and Wednesday nights.

Mr. New suggests a ball game for each Wednesday afternoon and free moving pictures at night, the pictures to be thrown on the side of some building as the picture show building is too small to accommodate all who would want to enjoy them.

This undoubtedly would be a wise step but the chances are, nothing will come of it for it would mean too much worry, work and expense for one or two men to assume the responsibility of putting the proposition over.

Thank Offering at Elmo Church Sunday

(By Edgar O. Wells, Minister).

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society through its president, Mrs. Z. R. Alexander has requested the pastor to take charge of the Thank Offering services next Sunday, and he, in return is requesting not only that every member of this auxiliary be present, but that every member of this church, make special effort, (forgetting all Sunday headaches, and laying aside all other engagements for the day) to be present at this service. There will be special music appropriate to the occasion, and a message of life and light to all. The hour will be 11:09 a. m. and the theme of the sermon "A Thank Offering Unto the Lord." The message at the evening hour, "Broken Chains," will be presented in terms which are easy to understand.

Our hot weather program will be ready for distribution on the first Sunday in July and promises many interesting features, among which will be at least two evenings of music and song, and all of the sermons on special themes of interest to all.

Our superintendent of Sunday School has placed the lesson review for next Sunday June 28th, in the hands of reviewers, who will speak briefly on the lessons of the quarter.

There are just 103 days until the meeting of the annual conference at Tarkio, and "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

Woodmen Will Have Term Insurance

Organization, At Annual Meeting At Chicago, Adopts Constitutional Changes to Such Permit Policies

Chicago, June 25.—Constitutional amendments that will permit the Modern Woodmen of America to issue term insurance policies were approved by the twentieth annual meeting of the order Tuesday. The meeting also approved legislation which increases the size of the policy the order can issue to its members from $3,000 to $5,000, and decided to permit the insured to make any person or institution his beneficiary. Heretofore the order has not allowed members to name any but blood relations as beneficiaries.

A nationwide health conservation department to look after the physical condition of the million odd members of the order was established by the head camp late yesterday. The proposition, advanced by A. R. Talbot, head consul, "so that our members will all die of old age," provides for an official physician in each county seat in the United States whose duty it shall be to examine any member who wishes to avail himself of the service twice annually.

64 Cans of Cream.

(Hopkins Journal).

Jack Noles, freight man at the depot, says we happened to catch a light run when we reported last week that 47 cans of cream were shipped from here Sunday night. 64 cans were sent out Monday night and this is not as many as are sometimes sent, showing that Hopkins ships lots of cream, and while there is lots of work connected with it, the dairy business is growing in this vicinity.

Scopes Defense Maps Out Its Strategy

Clarence Darrow and Bainbridge Colby, Legal Lights, Confer With Fellow Workers In Case.

Dayton, Tenn., June 25.—The strategy of the defense in the test case against Tennessees famous anti-evolution law has been mapped out by attorneys representing John T. Scopes, the defendant.

Clarence Darrow and Bainbridge Colby—high priced lawyers who will serve without pay—conferred with John R. Neal and John Godsey in the latter's law offices. They will be joined later by Dudley Field Malone who is enroute here from New York.

The problem of funds and witnesses has been disposed of and the attorneys are now working over the problem of whether the defense will put scientists, clergymen and educators on the witness stand.

An advantage is seen in the witness method, since otherwise the attorneys would have to limit themselves to arguing about the constitutionality of the law to quash the indictment. This would be a deadly dull procedure for the thousands expected to attend the trial.

The attorneys motored to Knoxsville late Tuesday to attend the commencement exercises at Neal's Law College and all the defense lawyers received honorary degrees.

"People want to know," he said, "whether I believe in eternity. I answer that I am 68 years old. Life insurance statistics which I have looked up tell me that if I live the life of an average man I haven't much longer to live.

"Square ahead of me lies the end. No one realizes this more than me. I don't think there is anything living that doesn't want to keep on living whether it be man, tree or political party.

"About these questions of life and death I have tried to find out but thus far have learned little. I have been an agnostic to all creeds that have come before me and am still seeking with an open mind and I hope I may still find an answer."

Darrow was introduced by Ben McKenzie, a prosecution attorney in the Scopes case. McKenzie assured Darrow that "in spite of press reports you are as safe in Tennessee as a babe in a mother's arms."

Trade at Home Urges League

National Prosperity Depends Upon Local Prosperity, Large Manufacturers Agree.

Chicago, June 25.—Believing that national prosperity depends upon local prosperity and that every town's progress rests on the development of its civic and commercial interests, the Local Loyalty League of America with headquarters here, has inaugurated a movement to stimulate a hearty trade-at-home community spirit throughout the country.

Material for the program includes newspaper editorials and newspaper advertising, a motion picture production entitled "My Home Town," featuring a popular juvenile movie star, essay contests, billboard posters and radiocasting.

"A community is only as good as its citizens make it, and business is the cornerstone on which the community structure stands," said a statement. "Business depression, brought about by buying from mail order catalogues and peddlers and frequent shopping visits to big city stores by the people of any town make 'dead' towns. We desire to combat that and develop a trade-at-home spirit."

Urges Public to Use the Railroads

According to the Atchison Globe of a few weeks ago the Topeka merchants declared a virtual boycott on the patronage of bus and truck lines operating between Kansas City and Topeka. A resolution adopted unanimously by the Topeka Merchants association declared that the bus lines contribute nothing to the growth and maintenance of the city and roads and have worked a great financial hardship on the railroads operating in that vicinity. The resolution authorized the president of the association to appoint a committee to send a letter to every merchant of the city, asking them to patronize only the railroads for shipments between the two cities.

RICH HOMES NOT THE BEST

Quite casually and unannounced, William Jennings Bryan dropped in at a morning session of the Conference on Child Welfare, held in New York a few days ago. The President of the Board of Education in the metropolis had just concluded an address during which he said the nation's crime bill was $3,000,000,000 a year and he urged that the best way to reduce that expenditure was by the study of the child problem and education. Mr. Bryan, being called to the platform, spoke briefly, but his remarks were so much to the point, that we give them for the benefit of our readers. This is what he said:

"The children of today are the citizens of tomorrow and the parents of the next generation. As such society must be interested in them. In fact, society in interested only in the children.

"I think that a child is entitled to everything the world can give it. No home with money is even a fair substitute for the love and parental guidance which a child gets in his own home. The luxurious home is not very often the best one, for a child who has to learn economy and industry in a poor home has a better chance in life than a child who is raised in luxury.

"We can't pick out a child that is going to be a value to the State. But we do know that, in a crisis, the destiny of a nation may rest upon the intelligence and moral courage of one person.

"I am whole-heartedly in sympathy with any movement which will give every child a real home instead of a place in an institution."

The child who is reared in a Christian home where love is, grows up in the knowledge of God and the fellowship of the "Elder Brother," Jesus. What is learned in such a home abides and gives strength of character as the years pass. It is the glory of our country that the great majority of her sons and daughters who reached distinction were surrounded in their early home life by influences that molded their careers and helped them to win the love and trust of a whole nation.—Christian Herald.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—Robert M. La Follette was one of the most popular men who ever sat in the United States senate—among his fellow senators.

This may seem like a queer thing to say, considering that he was read out of his own party only a few months ago.

To judge from the tone of senatorial debate in which he took part, it would be natural for an outsider to conclude that he was regarded, except within the small circle of those who fought under his banner, at any rate toward the end of his career, as an embittered, cantankerous old man.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. Lawmakers who were as far away from him as the poles are apart, so far as concerned politics, personally loved him. They valued his knowledge, admired his character and gave him full credit for the highest ability and honesty.

On all railroad questions he was recognized as perhaps the senate's foremost authority—equally so in tariff matters and to a great extent on monetary problems.

Occasionally a new senator arrived in Washington, unaware of the esteem in which the veteran Wisconsin statesman was regarded and inclined to look at him askance, but it never took these juniors long to discover how high was his standing, among Republicans and Democrats alike, at the capitol.

Who would think, now, that La Follette and the late Senator Lodge were the warmest friends?

One of the most dramatic scenes in the senate's history followed La Follette's first appearance on the floor of the upper house after his independent presidential campaign of 1924.

Senator McCormick was making a speech at the time. La Follette took his seat directly in the shadow of the Illinois solon's waving arms. It was somewhat difficult for others to reach him under the cloud of his gesticulation.

Lodge dodged about, like a bantamweight fighter trying to get past an antagonist's defense, finally seized his chance, ducked under McCormick's elbow, as he tossed a hand on high, and threw his arms about his old friend's neck.

Then others thronged around. The McCormick speech was forgotten and the orator himself joined the reception committee.

When Lodge left Washington to attend last year's Republican convention in Cleveland, it was known his standing with the administration group of politicians was none too good.

"If there's anything the Wisconsin delegation can do to help you," they say La Follette told him, as they said goodby, "let me know."

A funny offer from the senate's ultra-radical to his ultra-conservative, and doubtless said more than half in joke—but with more than a little sincerity back of it, for all that.

"Thanks," Lodge is quoted as answering, "but I don't intend to place myself in any position where I'll need help."

The late Boise Penrose, too! who'd think of him and La Follette as friends?

Yet La Follette, as those who knew him best will testify, really admitted the Pennsylvanian, not as a machine politician, but for being so frankly himself—no "bunk," no sham—just, out and out, himself.

"What will be the political effect of La Follette's death?" all Washington is asking. "Is Progressive-ism weakened by it?"

It's too soon to say. The Progressives aren't a hard-and-fast group. Their membership varies.

It isn't as if a party had lost a leader which it can't replace. Progressive-ism may not even have lost a vote, for it's on the cards that another La Follette-ite will replace La Follette himself in the senate next winter.

Still, a great personality, a great strategist, a great champion of the cause he stood for has gone.

LIVE STOCK PRICES AT KANSAS CITY

By Kansas City Livestock Exchange.

Moderate receipts most of last week and thus far this week have suited general conditions of light demand for beef, and given eastern distributing channels a chance to clear up surplus supplies offered in the first two weeks this month. In a general way both the beef market and cattle market are in a more favorable position to care for increasing supplies. Fed cattle are beginning to get scarce and the kinds that show any material amount of dry feed have advanced 25 to 40 cents since a week ago. The medium class have been slow to strengthen as they have not had any special demand, though they were not neglected. As the prices for the choice classes have advanced killers have made liberal purchases of the plain and common kinds. With the choice and common kinds strong the weak spot is in the middle.

The movement of grass fat cattle is increasing, and while Oklahoma is shipping freely receipts from other sections remain moderate, but in sufficient supply to indicate liberal runs by early July. As the season advances quality of the offerings will improve. Many of the grassers received thus far have been below a normal average in quality.

Monday fed cattle were 10 to 15 cents higher, and today they sold strong to 25 cents higher. The medium classes that were lower Monday came in for some of the advance today. While the light weight fed classes are ruling favorites killers are paying more attention to weighty steers. The best light and medium weight steers offered sold at $11 to $11.50. None was strictly prime. Steers weighing 1250 pounds sold up to $11, and heavy steers up to $10.75. The bulk of the grain fed steers brought $9.75 to $11.75. Texas meal and hull fed steers sold at $8.25 to $10, and double summered wintered Kansas steers $8.75 to $9.75. The straight grass fat cattle showed a wide variety and brought $4.75 to $8.50. A twenty car string of California grass cattle sold at $8.60 to $9.50.

Grass fat cows and heifers were 15 to 25 cents lower Monday, but found a ready outlet today at strong prices. Fed classes remained scarce and in active demand. Only a few bunches of prime heifers have been offered each day. Veal calves are $1 higher than a week ago, best selling at $9 to $9.50.

Though prices for stockers and feeders are only slightly higher for the week demand has shown a substantial increase. The favorable condition of the corn crop is bringing inquiry from the Central corn belt. Most of the offerings, only fair quality are selling at $5.50 to $6.50, good to choice kinds $6.50 to $7.50.

Rising prices continue in the hog division. Today's advance was 25 to 40 cents, making a gain of more than $1.50 in the past two weeks, and taking general quotations within 75 cents of the extreme high point this year. The top price today was $13.55 and the bulk of the 170 to 300 pound classes sold at $13.25 to $13.50. Light lights sold at $12.75 to $13; packing sows $12.75 to $12.85, and stock hogs and pigs $12.50 to $12.85.

Sheep and lambs were 25 cents above Monday and steady with the best time last week. Idaho lambs sold up to $15.90; native lambs $14.75 to $15.25 and odd lots of ewes $5 to $6.75. Most of the offerings were native grades.

GET RID OF THAT BACKACHE!

Maryville People Point the Way.

The constant aching of a bad back,
The weariness, the tired feeling;
Headaches, dizziness, nervousness,
Distressing urinary disorders—
Are often signs of failing kidneys
And too serious to be neglected.
Get rid of these troubles!

Hosts of people recommend Doan's
This is a Maryville case.
You can verify it.

Louis Anderson, 804 North Walnut St., says: "I suffered from dull pains which caught me in the small of my back and my back was lame and sore I felt miserable and worn-out and was hardly able to be about. I read of Doan's Pills in a local paper and purchased some. The first box brought great relief and after I had taken three boxes I was rid of the attack."

TELEPHONE SUPERVISOR

Tells of the Benefit Received by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Leavenworth, Kansas. — "My work was long-distance operating and supervising, and I got into a very nervous state and was all rundown. I was easily annoyed at trifles, was extremely nervous and always had a tired feeling which made me awfully listless. Through a newspaper I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thinking it would help me I tried it. It quieted my nerves, I was less annoyed and more lively. It took away that dragging feeling and improved my health in every way. I was able to continue my work with more vigor than before and I recommend the Vegetable Compound to all young girls. I am married now and have a big baby boy and am in the best of health. If I should ever have any trouble I'll take the Vegetable Compound again, for I know it will help me as it did before."—Mrs. O. W. THIEL, 925 Pawnee Street, Leavenworth, Kansas.

AMBITIOUS BUSINESS MEN
have felt the need for a greater knowledge on the subject of advertising. It is for their benefit that we offer a few suggestions, which approach advertising problems without confusion and treats them with as few technicalities of the trade as it is possible to use. The whole purpose is to demonstrate, in as plain language as can be chosen, that there is no mystery about converting newspaper space into forceful, effective advertising.
